

THE FLORAL STILL LIFE IN OIL INSTRUCTOR: GREGG KREUTZ

TWO DAY WORKSHOP
Saturday, September 16 and
Sunday, September 17
9:30 am - 4:30 pm

$350 Members/$380 Non-Members

Gregg Kreutz

Gregg Kreutz returns to The Art Guild with a workshop that will focus on painting the floral still life. Flowers paired with objects and fruit, turning them into compelling dramas of light and shadow. The focus will be on revealing the significant and obscuring the less meaningful.

This workshop will explore how to create effects with paint strokes and palette knife swipes. Students will strive to make the canvas not only a depiction of observed reality, but also a celebration of the beauty of the flower.

Painting the floral still life is not only a worthy subject in its own right, but it can also provide vital learning skills for all other genres - landscape, portrait, interior and figure. Each of these is made easier by a familiarity with the art of the still life.

Materials list will be provided.

Gregg Kreutz is an award winning painter and author of the classic artist's guide, Problem Solving for Oil Painters. After graduating from NYU, he pursued his training as a painter at the Art Students League of New York, winning a merit scholarship. He studied with Frank Mason, Robert Beverly Hale and most significantly, David Leffel.

Gregg teaches drawing and painting at the Art Students League as well as workshops throughout the US and around the world.
